PREFACE

One moment's reflection on the past history of the Alliance justifies our pertinent self-assurance and reasonable pride. Being one of the oldest foreign-student organizations in the United States of America, the Alliance has been lauded, by virtue of its work and spirit, as one of the best well-organized and the most active organizations. Despite some unavoidable shortcomings, it has gloriously and successfully manifested itself in various activities. Its flowery past will undoubtedly lead to warrant a fruitful future.

But the Alliance can never live on beguileless optimism. It must go ahead with its work, which, however, cannot be done by its president alone, nor its officers. Its members, men and women, one and all, are to share in its activities. The fate of the Alliance lies in the hands of its members. Only with unremitting effort and constant cooperation of its members can the Alliance hope for success. Therefore, I am requesting that each and every one of us be identified with the Alliance, the only official organ through which our sentiments can be expressed, and we should render our unflinching loyalty to it so that its success may be assured.

The Alliance has never been, and will never be, a political organization, although it has been painted so. It belongs to no clique, no faction, no party. It stands above all provincialism. It belongs to the Chinese student body in this country. It is, therefore, our right as well as our duty to see that the status of this non-partisan organization remains as it is, and that its activities prosper.

It does not follow, however, that by reason of this non-partisan character, the Alliance must need stand aloof from all national and international affairs. On the contrary, as a lively and dynamic organization, the Alliance should, or let us say, must, besides endeavoring to promote the common interests of the Chinese students here, "labor for the general welfare of our nation at home and abroad" as has been set up as one of the cardinal objectives of the Alliance. So when events of national and international significance take place, the Alliance, in order to stand by its purpose, should voice the consensus of opinion of the Chinese students in this country.

The Handbook is published for your convenience. May it bring to you afresh the fellowship of your acquaintances, and may it be a means to foster new ones. Above all, may it be a reminder of your constant loyalty to the Alliance, and, therefore, to your mother country.

CHAO-WEI LIANG.

THE AMERICAN EXPRESS COMPANY

is prepared to solve all your problems and give you every imaginable aid, both before you have left your native land and after you have come to America.

Before You Leave China:

At our offices in China you receive information, advice and assistance on the planning of your trip. Their staffs are thoroughly familiar with travel and living conditions in the United States. These offices provide steamship and railway tickets, and hotel reservations, at lowest rates. They arrange for the shipment of your books and other personal effects.

When You Come to America:

Our offices throughout the United States are at your service. Through the American Express Company you can best send money to China or receive funds therefrom. During vacations, we suggest attractive and instructive tours, and make all arrangements therefor.

When You Go Home:

When you go home, we will call for your baggage and attend to all shipping details, delivering them right to their destination in China. If your time permits, we can suggest and arrange most attractive itineraries for your return to China via Europe, at extremely low cost.

Money:

American Express Travelers Cheques are the safest and best way to carry funds on your journey. They can be procured at all our offices.

1927—Constitution revised. Five standing committees provided: National Affairs Committee, Publication Committee, Committee on Legal Defense, Election Committee and Committee to receive suggestions for Constitutional Amendments.

Publication of the "New China Weekly" (in English).

Finances systematized. Five different funds set up: National Affairs Fund, Conference Fund, Publication Fund, Administrative Fund, and Emergency Fund.

1928—Special pamphlets on China issued. Coast-to-coast tour to consolidate Alliance organization and to have a united front against Japanese imperialism realized. New local clubs incorporated.

Permanent secretary with a permanent office recommended.

Activities of the Alliance

1. It publishes the "Chinese Students' Monthly" (in English) and the "Chinese Students' Quarterly" (in Chinese), which are devoted to the discussion of national and international questions and to the encouragement of creative scholarship, among the Chinese students.

2. It issues an annual Handbook containing valuable information, interesting records, and a complete directory of Chinese students in this country.

3. It issues pamphlets and circulars occasionally which are of special interest to the Chinese students.

4. It calls annual sectional conferences to discuss China's national problems and to promote the social, athletic and intellectual activities of the Chinese students.

5. It endeavors to help promote the welfare of the Chinese students in this country.

6. It stands by the will of the Chinese people and voices their sentiment.

7. It co-operates with other organizations in this and other countries for the promotion of international understanding and good will.

8. It especially endeavors to help interpret China to America, combat malicious propaganda against her in this country, and better the understanding between the two sister Republics.

“THE SOUTH MANCHURIA RAILWAY”

The South Manchuria Railway, with its luxurious standard Pullman cars and its commodious coaches, ensures comfortable, profitable, speedy journey from all points in China to Kobe, Yokohama and Tokyo, through the most picturesque, alluring sections of Manchuria, Korea and Japan.

Trans-Pacific travellers from Shanghai, Tientsin, Peking and other Chinese cities to the United States, and vice-versa, will find it convenient, instructive and pleasant to break the monotony of sea voyage by utilizing the South Manchuria Railway.

The South Manchuria Railway has through traffic arrangements with the government railways of China, Korea and Japan for the convenience of its patrons. Along its main lines the Railway maintains well-appointed modern hotels where the service is as good as the charges are reasonable.

To the Chinese students, coming to America or returning home, this Railway offers the opportunity to pass through three interesting countries, Manchuria, Korea and Japan—thus affording them more varied experience and wider observation than otherwise possible.
