ECONOMIC LOSSES DUE TO JAPANESE INVASION OF CHINA

The American Information Committee at Shanghai has recently issued another pamphlet in its series which is designed for the purpose of keeping American interests in the United States posted on the true state of affairs in China since the Japanese invasion. Copies of previous pamphlets in this series were submitted with our E & T Notes 4, 7, 9 and 10. Future publications of this Committee will be sent forward when issued, as it is felt that they present material on the present economic conditions in a clear, concise and comprehensive manner and from an unbiased point of view.

- 1/ This latest pamphlet, copies of which are enclosed herewith, is entitled "Japan Over China -- America's Gain or Loss?" and presents considerable interesting information on the economic losses due to the Japanese invasion. It is believed that this publication will undoubtedly prove of interest and use in a study of the results of the Japanese invasion as it affects American interests in China.
