WHAT

IS

C. I. C. ?

C.I.C. stands for Chinese Industrial Cooperatives, a movement that is sweeping through all of FREE CHINA.

Why Were the Chinese Industrial Cooperatives Started?

Japan destroyed 90% of China's industry in the first few months of the war. 50,000,000 industrial refugees fled to China's agricultural interior to seek safety and employment. C.I.C. was started to produce vital manufactured goods for China and to put unemployed and starving refugees to work. Dr. H. H. Kung, China's Minister of Finance, is President of the C.I.C.

How Do the Chinese Industrial Cooperatives Work?

Any group of people may apply for a loan at a local C.I.C. office. When the integrity of the group has been established the loan is granted and the group elects its own chairman, sets its own wages and conditions, then begins production. 10% of the members' yearly profits are turned into a "Common Good Fund" to establish schools, clinics, hospitals and training courses for C.I.C. members and their families. Other funds are set aside to repay the loan or to enlarge the workshop.

How Many Cooperatives and Members in the C.I.C.?

Latest available figures show that there are 32,000 full-time members of the C.I.C., but when part-time workers, apprentices and probational cooperators are added, the total reaches 100,000.

There are 2,400 workshops of the C.I.C.

What do the Chinese Industrial Cooperatives Produce?

Nearly 500 different products are made by the C.I.C. Most important are:

Textiles	Uniforms	Small arms
Iron	Medical gauze	Lathes
Coal	Shoes	Soap
Chemicals	Spinning wheels	Cigarettes
Transport	Blankets	Paper
Looms	Printing presses	Medicines

Last year the total value of C.I.C. products was $12,000,000. This year they plan to produce $50,000,000 worth.

Where are the Chinese Industrial Cooperatives Located?

C.I.C. spreads through 18 of China's provinces. Many of the workshops are hidden in farmhouses, caves and camouflaged huts so that they will escape the eyes of enemy airmen. Many of the cooperatives are within sound of enemy guns, supplying troops with everyday necessities. Others are hidden in occupied territory, operating in a "plain-clothes" capacity.

Headquarters of the C.I.C. are as follows: Northwest, Northern Front, Chuan Kong, Yunnan-Kweichow, Southwest, Southeast, South Yangtze, and Central Headquarters at Chungking.

How Are Funds Transmitted to the C.I.C.?

Funds designated to C.I.C. are cabled to the International Committee for Chinese Industrial Cooperatives in Chengtu, China. They are then sent to the regions specified by the donor, or wherever the need is greatest.

Officers of the International Committee for C.I.C. include Bishop Ronald Hall, Chairman; Rewi Alley, Acting Chairman; Dr. Chen Han-seng, Secretary; Dr. Lewis Smythe, Treasurer.
