

Weekly Review Takes over Subscriptions of Chinese Engineer and Contractor

By an arrangement entered into this week by the publisher of the Weekly Review and Carl Crow, Inc., the Weekly Review will take over and finish out all paid subscriptions to the Chinese Engineer and Contractor, a trade publication which has been published for the last three years by Carl Crow, Inc. Mr. Crow is discontinuing the publication owing to the growth of other phases of his advertising agency business which now requires his entire time. All advertising contracts in the Chinese Engineer and Contractor may be continued in the monthly industrial supplement of the Weekly Review in case the makers of the contracts desire. The second publication of the Industrial Supplement appears in this issue of the Review in both the Chinese and English languages and copies are now being mailed out to all subscribers to the Engineer and Contractor as well as to subscribers to the Review. This month's issue of the Industrial Supplement is devoted to the commercial development of Shanghai and persons interested in obtaining additional copies are urged to notify the circulation department as early as possible.

-
11. International Relations of the Chinese Empire, by Morse, page 112.